Small Group Questions

1. We discussed Christian Liberty as the right to make any sacrifice we can think of to promote a fellow-believer's sanctification. What are some things we might be called upon to sacrifice in our own lives, in our own culture to achieve this goal in our churches?
2. The Church of Corinth elevated knowledge and thereby became puffed up. They misused God's gift of knowledge. What others of God's gifts might we misuse by giving them more importance than God has?
3. It is also possible to misunderstand what a godly virtue is. For instance, these days it is popular to define love as accepting everything a person is or does. But this is not love as we discussed it this morning. What godly virtues has our culture re-defined? How are we susceptible to these bad definitions?
